Dear Harold:

Was good to finally meet you and enjoyed our conversations. Will give you a call next time I get out to the coast, though I don't know when that will be.

I trust you've made a copy of my MS. I'd appreciate any comments you might have. I'm aware that the MS needs considerable tightening and some condensations, especially the phone conversations. Up till now, I've felt that there is sufficient "meat" for a publisher to make a decision as to the potential of the MS. However, since no publisher has come up with an advance, I may have been mistaken.

If you have any suggestions in regard to publishers who might be interested in my MS, please let me know.

Will have your ax on the way to you next week.

Sincerely,

Robert K. Brown
